Celebrating 10 Years Preserving History

President's Report Larry Wallace 620-2800

It was freezing this winter in SW Ohio. One day it was 65 degrees the next day it was 13. It is spring now, that is what the calendar says. Last year it was a wet, cool April. Hope for warmer and dryer weather this year. The farmers had a good year. I heard of record yields of corn and beans.

We are all looking forward to another good year with the Old Fashioned Days and Farmers Market. Next on the calendar is the Trash Bash on April 12. I think it serves a good purpose, also gets you out of the house in the early spring while being involve in a community service project.

I would again like to thank all the volunteers who make it possible for AWTHS to continue to move forward and thrive. What some do is above and beyond what you could even hope for. The ones that donate their time and energy are special people. I Thank You All. Anyone wanting to serve on a committee or help with a project please contact me or another officer of the AWTHS.

Keep program chairman and corresponding secretary Gayla Metzcar in your thoughts as she goes through this difficult time.

Those who haven't paid their 2014 dues please get them in sooner rather than later.

Until the July issue, stay safe and have a great spring.

New Display

AWTHS member Marilyn Rosser Strickler donated a quilt made by her Great Aunt Mary Rosser Niswonger. Also donated is a child's Sunday best dress and coat which was worn by Mary's father John Frederick Rosser. John died in the Civil War. The quilt and clothing are on display in the community room along with a brief history of the Rosser family. At the time of Mary's death she was 85 years old living on North St. and was the oldest living person in the community.

Historian - Bill Gunder 692-8000

The entry of records from Kreitzer Funeral Home continues. We currently have nearly 2,500 names listed through 1997. A report containing a master index of names and any available obituary abstracts is our next objective for this project.

Work has started organizing approximately 4,000 photos of Arcanum and its people by subjects and/or categories into separate folders. The folders will be a great addition to our reference library, they will make it easier to access information. We are thankful to Stuart Schram for taking on this project.

Historical Markers - Keith Furlong 548-6556

The board has approved additional plaques for the area. The first plaque was installed last year at the AWTHS house; "Louis Dietrich, Hotel and Saloon, 1894". Additional plaques have been ordered to identify significant structures; "Ivestor House", "California House Hotel 1868", and "Flat Iron 1865". Additional suggestions, please give me a call.

New Patio

Bricks that once paved the streets of Arcanum will be used to replace the cement slab off the kitchen door. Jim Hill will demo the area and install the 54 sq. ft. patio.

Membership - Carolyn and Keith Furlong - 548-6556

We are always looking for new members and for current members to renew their membership. The historical society appreciates our members for their dedication to the preservation of our community's history. Have you renewed your membership for 2014?

It is with sadness that we note the passing of members Lova Brown and Phyllis Troutwine. Lova was a long time member. Phyllis will be remembered as a strong advocate of the historical society. Hers was familiar face at all AWTHS events.

May is National Historical Preservation Month

New Age Of Preservation: Embark Inspire Engage

That is the theme designated this year by the National Trust For Historic Preservation. Listed are some ways you can "engage" in our community. Let's not forget to involve our youth!

* Check out AWTHS display at the Arcanum Public Library during May.

* Attend AWTHS open Saturday May 3, 9 to noon. Stop in and help us celebrate AWTHS's 10th anniversary and also celebrate the history of our building.

* Visit our Founder's family gravesites in the Ithaca Cemetery. The monuments of William and Nancy Rice Gunder were designated as the first historic site by AWTHS in 2005.

* If you know of a cemetery that is neglected and needs cleaned up, check with the caretakers or property owners to see if you can help.

What exactly is historic preservation?

It's much more than saving old buildings! Historic preservation champions and protects places that tell the stories of our past.

It enhances our sense of community and brings us closer together: saving the places where we take our children to school, buy our groceries and stop for coffee- preserving the stories of ancient cultures found in landmarks and landscapes we visit - protecting the memories of people, places and events honored in our national monuments.

Historic preservation is also about getting involved in saving these monuments, landscapes and neighborhoods. It doesn't have to be complicated - it can be fun! For example, have you ever...

- * Taken a house museum tour?
- * Shopped in local stores on a Main Street?
- * Volunteered at a historic site or community event?
- * Stopped to appreciate great architecture?
- * Detoured from the highway to follow the historic site markers?

If you have, then you've been part of preservation.

There are many ways you can get involved in historic preservation and save places that matter in your life. The important part is that you recognize the places that are meaningful to you, and to our nation's heritage, and that they deserve to be around for future generations. That's what preservation is all about. Together we are protecting America's heritage for future generations.

Cemeteries and Restoration Information from websites listed below

"We believe that they are sacred and historic sites to preserved. They contain the remains of our earliest settlers - those who came to the "wilderness" that became Ohio - and they are in need of protection for many different reasons."

"Old cemeteries are markers of human history. They are links to family we never knew, they are sources of history and they tell us a great deal about ourselves culturally and socially. Sometimes it is the only record we have of an individual - their record of birth and death and sometimes who their parents or spouse were."

"If you have stones (marker) on your property do not remove stones and build or plant a garden over the area. Do not take stones to use in your garden. Once the stone is removed the location is gone and a family may never know where their ancestor was buried."

"If the area and stones cannot be maintained and restored, then check with authorities about the removal of remains to a nearby cemetery as well as the stones."

"Document stones by recording and photography before work begins. Do this before doing any type of clean up, work, or removal's."

Celebrating 10 Years of Accomplishments

Through the dedication and hard work of many people in our area the Arcanum Wayne Trail Historical Society has become a prominent part of Arcanum and southern Darke County.

Founded in 2004 by a group of citizen whose heritage goes back to the early days; Bill Gunder, Dave and JoAnne Pleasant (Smith) Hill, Keith and Carolyn Patterson Furlong, Fred and Carolyn Troutwine and Anita Bowers Short. In the early years trees were so dense squirrels could jump from one tree to another. A time when people walked on plank sidewalks from store to store to avoid the swampy ground. A time when two train tracks intersected in town bringing new people to settle here and to work the fertile ground. The trains then took the products of their hard labor to markets; tobacco, lumber and grains.

Hard work which was ingrained in the early settlers is the same fortitude which inspired AWTHS members to take on the project of bringing life back into the 1894 structure first built to house the Louis Dietrich Hotel and Saloon. Many who volunteered, who labored many hours, those who gave supplies and funds, and those who donated for and worked at the many fundraisers remember the building as the Beck Hotel and later Wayne Trail Grange No. 2647.

A walk through the house is a walk into the past. Woodwork was striped of paint and renewed. Some floors were refinished. Walls stripped of faded wallpaper, then patched and painted. Panels in the meeting room were removed to reveal the 12 foot ceiling with high windows which had been hidden for many years. Window treatments were made from drapes long forgotten by previous owners. Chandeliers and light fixtures which once hung in many older Arcanum homes now shine on hundreds of items members and residents have so generously given to be preserved, items that help tell the history of Arcanum and southern Darke County.

Our talented members worked diligently to craft spindles, woodwork & trim, to build much needed display and storage pieces, and much more. Beautiful stain glass pieces were made to fit in the transoms.

New exterior doors were selected to keep with the period of the house and still meet code requirements. To preserve the exterior, bricks were cleaned, sealed and tuck pointed. Bricks, limestone lintels and sills were replaced where needed. The roof, soffits, gutters, down spouts, furnace and water heater are all new. The 1st floor is now air conditioned. Windows were replaced. And those are only the major projects completed.

The Dietrich Hotel, Beck Hotel and Wayne Trail Grange each hold a place in the history of Arcanum. The Arcanum Wayne Trail Historical Society is bringing that history and the history of southern Darke County together. The mission of AWTHS is: "to collect, preserve and foster an appreciation for our past and promote an interest and knowledge of past historical events for citizens of all ages, which may act as a foundation for future generations and instill a sense of pride in local history."

To accomplish the purpose of AWTHS, "collecting and preserving of records, artifacts, memorabilia, materials, and genealogical research pertaining to the history of the Arcanum area", a reference and genealogy library has been well established. Around 4000 photos of the community, family histories, books, school yearbooks and over 35 binders on all types of subjects in Arcanum as well as Pittsburg, and Southern Darke County are available for research and casual reading. Digital files are also available as well as actual Arcanum Times Newspapers. Books documenting Arcanum's history: the founding and the founders family, businesses, life in the community, the fire department, Ivestor House and Arcanum Public Library are available for purchase.

Several structures have been identified as historical sites. The monuments for the founder of Arcanum, William and Nance Rice Gunder in the Ithaca Cemetery have been restored. These projects also meet the purpose of the society: "the identifying and marking buildings and locations of historical significance as well as the preserving of skills and building techniques shall be considered part of the purpose of the society".

The lot adjacent AWTHS, where the D&U station was located, is now Veterans Memorial Park and is property of the historical society. The park is used for the farmers market and also for community activities.

AWTHS presents educational programs for school children and the public and holds special activities such as Darke County Center of the Arts concerts.

Through membership dues, generous donations, grants and fundraisers AWTHS has generated $207,670 in the first 10 years, making it possible to remain viable. All who have been part of the AWTHS board these past 10 years appreciate the many, many people who have made this possible.

"You know you're from Arcanum when"

A Face Book page has been established titled "You know your from Arcanum when..." The entries selected and included here are written by people who have lived or are living in Arcanum. Enjoy the memories!

Kathy Ritz Daugherty I remember as kids me and my brother (Dave) and sister (Joyce) would gather up the money we saved for Christmas gifts, and that mom gave us, and we would walk down town to do our Christmas shopping. We would go to Fox Pharmacy to get a lighter for Dad, and some kind of pretty glass thing or a jewel box for mom. Then to Crouse's Men's Store or Smith's to get Dad a shirt. Then to Louise Dress shop for something for mom. One year we even went to Sink's and bought the parents a tie clip and brooch with everyone's birthstones. Of course, we would go to the 5 and 10 Store, and Brownie's etc.... We would get gifts for each other in town to. It was great to be able to do our own shopping, just another reason why it was great to grow up in Arcanum

Jennifer Yoakum Chadwick I miss Fox's. I remember getting comic books while my mom looked at all the pretty trinkets. I did get almost all of my stocking stuffer gifts at Barberine's this year (just can't make myself call it Ben Franklin).

Velvet Delk Wetz Remember the awesome goodies at Toupe's (Toops) Bakery, the subs at Trojans Pizza and Smith's Department Store

Geneva Freeman "when your neighbors across the street were long distance by phone".

Alana Wardlaw Brenner We had a "party line" and were tied in with people on our street.

Charles Nick When someone spray paints the side of the high school and misspells the word "Satan" as "Satin rules."

Peggy Hemmelgarn Dull What about the popcorn factory? Anyone remember that? You could get you a big bag of popcorn and leave the money in a jar at the door. They trusted you to leave the money and not just take it free.

Sandy Taylor Does anyone remember the popcorn festival in the park that Blevins Popcorn had every year?

Jeff Hogg How about Go Cart races on the bricks in town.

Geneva Freeman It is Darke County fair week .. Alana Wardlaw Brenner ... and the library closes down Travis Shuttleworth ... as well as Miller's Tavern

Rhi Will Hugourchildren Mrs. Wohlgomuth let us make fudge for no apparent reason.

Sandy Beenereveryone you know has worked or is working at Sutton's

Alexis Gardner When you get to take a "field trip" down the street to watch people move a house.

Jeremy Lockhart You walk to Ben Franklin after school to spend the 10 cents you saved from lunch on penny a piece Swedish Fish.

Peggy Hemmelgarn Dull I remember when Jeanette, Linda and I use to put $1.50's worth of gas in the car and cruise Arcanum for hours and still have gas left over. Gas was well under $1.00 a gallon.

Zach Norris When you can walk any direction and run into a cornfield.

Frank Stephens Arcanum is a typical small town America type of place. One doesn't realize the quality of living there until U move away as I did over 45 years ago. I have been to most every country in the world but still would prefer to be in the quiet little town called "Arcanum". My family was well known there with the Stephens Lumber Company, My father was mayor for two terms and on the local and county school board for 20 years. I hope when I come back I can contribute something of value to the LITTLE place in the world called Arcanum.

Did You Know????

Did you know the wood used to make the kitchen island counter top and the pegged boards used for displays in the community room are made of wood from the tobacco warehouse once located between the hardware store and the fire house? Gene Rench salvaged the floor joists which were later cut and planed. Dennis Benedict crafted the counter top.

Did you know many structural fires in Arcanum in the early years were caused by sparks from the trains?

Did you know many homes that have cement porches and also many side walks were poured by Sam Harleman? Look for an oval mark with his name.

Did you know the wives of the founders of Ithaca and of Arcanum were sisters? Nancy Rice Gunder and Dicey Rice Colville were from Harrisburg Township, Preble County, Ohio. Their home place was on what now is St. Rt. 503.
